BIOGRAPHY

Randy Gravitt is the CEO (Chief Encouragement Officer) of Lead Every Day and a sought-after speaker, author, and executive coach who empowers leaders to reach their full potential both professionally and personally. With expertise in leadership development, team building, and organizational effectiveness, Randy delivers transformational keynotes and workshops that drive real results in the workplace and beyond.

Randy's impressive client roster includes Fortune 500 companies such as Chick-fil-A, Kroger, and Grand Hyatt, alongside prestigious organizations like the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and WinShape Foundation. His coaching expertise extends to professional sports, having served as a leadership coach for both the Pittsburgh Pirates and Buffalo Bills organizations.

A prolific author, Randy has written four books, including his solo work Winning Begins at Home and his latest collaboration Lead Every Day, which outlines the three disciplines of their proven leadership operating system. He also co-authored Finding Your Way and Unstuck with Dan Webster. Randy hosts two podcasts: the Lead Every Day Show with bestselling author Mark Miller and the Winning Begins at Home Podcast, where he passionately demonstrates that true leadership success starts with winning beyond work.

Randy's leadership journey began in education as a teacher and coach before transitioning to nearly two decades of executive leadership at one of Atlanta's largest churches. In 2014, he founded what became Lead Every Day, now leading a team of coaches and consultants who work with high-performance leaders and organizations worldwide.

Randy and his wife Laura have been married 38 years and live in Sharpsburg, Georgia, where they raised four daughters. When not inspiring leaders, Randy enjoys being Randad to his nine grandchildren, playing golf, reading, and sitting on his back porch.
